Welcome to Kanaskat-Palmer State Park

Situated on a small, low plateau in the Green River Gorge, Kanaskat-Palmer State Park has two miles of shoreline on the Green River. Sandstone canyon walls form the interior of the gorge and old-growth trees are viewable from the park's 3 miles of hiking trail.

Encompassing 320 acres in northwest Washington, Kanaskat-Palmer State Park is a wetland home to vast varieties of plant, bird and wildlife. The park offers a natural forest setting, fishing and picnicking opportunities and is known for expert-level whitewater river rafting and kayaking recreation.

Overnight accommodations

The park offers several options for overnight stays. There are 25 standard campsites and 19 hookup campsites with accommodations for RVs up to 50 feet long. In the winter, camping at the park is first come, first served.

Looking for an alternative to tent camping?

Kanaskat-Palmer State Park also features reservable yurts within the secluded beauty of the park's old-growth forest. The yurts are circular, domed tents made of extra-heavy canvas and have spacious interiors with skylights, screened windows, hardwood floors and locking doors. Each yurt is 16 feet in diameter and 10 feet high and furnished with bunk beds that sleep three and a queen-size futon. Each yurt comfortably sleeps five guests. Outside each yurt is a picnic table, fire grill, utility hookup and deck accessible to people with disabilities. Bathrooms and showers are nearby.

A group camp with accommodations for 20-80 guests is located near the park's campground area. The camp includes restrooms, showers, two Adirondacks (three-sided sleeping shelters), eight standard tent campsites and picnic shelter. RVs are not permitted in the group camp.

Reservations for individual campsites, the group camp and yurts may be made online at www.parks.state.wa.us or by calling (888) CAMPOUT or (888) 226-7688.
